Accomplish the next step toward earning your master's degree in Sport Studies.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

An MS in Sport Studies will prepare you for multiple career options in sports. This track gives you the flexibility to design a curriculum that combines courses from multiple departments to create an academic emphasis. Students interested in coaching and engaging in the sport psychology field would benefit from this track greatly. This track also allows students to choose a 36-credit thesis option or a 36-credit non-thesis option.

- Relevant—Gain experience in your field of choice outside of the classroom with professionals in the area.
- Supportive— Faculty are committed to your success.
- Inclusive—Applicants holding a bachelor's degree in a closely related field can also apply.
- Field-ready - practicum-based courses allow students to work directly with field professionals. There are also several assistantship opportunities that become available every year.
